

WOMAN UNABLE TO MAKE GRADE AS A MURDER CASE JUROR

Mrs. Gertrude Wilkie Puzzled When She is Turned Down

IN THE WILLIAMS CASE

Twelve Men to Decide Fate of Farmer Charged With Death of Brother-in-Law

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.—(INS)—Woman, who has competed successfully with man in every pursuit from aviation to taxicab driving, today was unable to make the grade as a juror at the murder re-trial of Harold Williams. The defendant is charged with the sister-brother slaying of William Prophet, Mrs. Clara Grace Prophet, sister of Mrs. Williams and wife of the victim, is serving a life sentence for her part in the murder.

Women are permitted to serve as jurors under Pennsylvania law, but the Court and counsel drew on the higher law of chivalry, preventing a woman juror—and a willing one—from taking her place in the box.

Testimony promises to be highly sensational. So—when Mrs. Gertrude Wilkie, pretty, and the mother of a 31 year old youth, showed by her intelligent answers, she was highly qualified to act as a juror beside any man—well, this was what happened: "I shan't ask your age," gallantly remarked Prosecutor Vincent Carroll. "Oh, that is all right. I am 52," smiled Mrs. Wilkie.

"Married?"

"Yes," answered Mrs. Wilkie, "and a very loveable marriage."

Did she have any scruples against capital punishment? She did not. Defense counsel then took over.

If the defendant was shown to have committed the murder while of unsound mind, would she convict him? She would not.

Nine other (male) jurors had been accepted by answering the questions in the same manner.

The prosecution conferred with the Judge and the defense counsel.

Would serving as a juror prove a hardship? Mrs. Wilkie was next asked. "No," she said.

"I want to do my duty."

Then it was explained to Mrs. Wilkie she was excused because a jurorship might prove uncomfortable for her. "I would be delighted, otherwise, to have you as a juror, madam," bowed the prosecutor.

Mrs. Wilkie retired, looking puzzled and disappointed.

The remaining three jurors of the all male dozen, who will decide the fate of the 26 year old farmer, will be selected today.

The defense will rely on a plea of temporary insanity revolving around a "hidden motive" in an effort to save Williams from the electric chair.

Bristol Trust Company Has New Coin Counting Machine

The Bristol Trust Company has just installed the latest model coin counting and wrapping machine.

This machine is operated by a motor, and coins of all denominations may be placed in the tray. A large round disc then brings the coins up one at a time and an arm places the coins in a pair of parallel cylinders. The various denominations then drop through a register and are counted. They then pass through a slot and drop into cylinders for each size coin, from which they can then be wrapped.

As soon as the proper number of coins pass through the slot the machine automatically stops until the coins are removed and the machine is released.

The machine, like all modern inventions, saves time for customers; and the directors of the institution desire to continue the same prompt, courteous treatment always given their customers.

Miss Eleanor Nadler, who was injured November 15th in an automobile accident, was operated upon yesterday in the Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore. Word received today states that Miss Nadler is doing very nicely. She is accompanied by her mother, Prof. Bennett performed the operation.

LOOK FOR THE WOMAN, IS SLEUTHS' SLOGAN

Virtually All Other Clues Are Abandoned by The Detectives

LETTER IS THE CLUE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.—(INS)—Cherchez la femme—look for the woman!

That was a salient part in the renewed investigation into the slaying of Norman A. Bechtel, Mennonite Church worker today as police turned again to their first theory that he had been murdered while keeping a midnight tryst with a girl.

Virtually abandoning all other clues, detectives scoured the city for a woman who now is believed to have been with Bechtel when he was slain. Belief that the Mennonite Church worker may have been involved in an external triangle case was expressed in a letter from an anonymous correspondent to police, who wrote that it would be to the advantage of police to follow the lead to the end.

The letter was received Saturday, it became known, by John K. Hackman, undertaker, a short time before services for Bechtel were held in the mortuary.

On the basis of this letter, which contained neither names or addresses, Safety Director Kern Dodge has ordered a search for the couple.

"This wife," the writer declared, "has a friend who resembled Bechtel. The wife called the boy friend 'The Kid.' It will pay police to look into this."

Hackman turned the mystery letter over to police immediately after receiving it. A short study of the letter was made by detectives. Later they announced that it was not the work of a crank, but a well educated person.

"Martha Washington" Herself

Colonial color was lifted from history's pages at the annual Beaux Arts Ball, held recently at New York. The George Washington Bicentennial influence was very apparent in many of the lovely costumes worn by society notables. Above is Mrs. Walter Lathrop Johnson, of Briarcliff Manor, New York, in the costume she wore as she enacted the role of Martha Washington in one of the historic tableaux presented at the ball. The gown is of blue taffeta and white satin. Its quilted petticoat is an exact duplicate of the gown worn by Martha Washington in the most popular portrait of her.

CHILD AND MATCHES START BUNGALOW FIRE

Home at Parkland is Guttered and Furniture is Destroyed

BUILDING IS DAMAGED

PARKLAND, Jan. 26.—A fire which gutted a semi-bungalow home here yesterday afternoon, was the result of a child of three playing with matches. The contents of furniture were destroyed, and the structure damaged to a great extent.

The bungalow is owned and occupied by John Colwell and family, on County Road, Upper Parkland. Shortly after two o'clock, Mrs. Colwell heard water running in the bathroom on the second floor. Making her way to that section of the house to see that her son of three was all right, she again returned to the first floor. A few minutes later the child came down the stairs, and Mrs. Colwell noticed the odor of smoke. An investigation showed that the upper part of the dwelling was afire and filled with smoke.

The furnishings were destroyed, and loss on the building is estimated at about $1,000.

The boy later told county fire marshal William L. Stackhouse, that he struck a match on the floor and placed it on a bureau in one of the bedrooms. The mother had not glanced in that room when she made her way to the second floor.

Firemen from Langhorne and South Langhorne had a stiff fight to gain control of the stubborn blaze. Later Hulmeville Company was summoned, but the fire had been extinguished when this group arrived.

The place is partly covered by insurance, and the owner plans to make repairs.

PINCHOT NAMES COLONEL PAXSON

Col. Henry D. Paxson, of Philadelphia and Buckingham, lawyer and historian, has been reappointed a member of the Washington Crossing Park Commission by Governor Pinchot.

Colonel Paxson is today one of the outstanding figures in the preservation of the history and spirit of Revolutionary days in Bucks county. He is one of the few survivors of a small group of Bucks countians who twenty-five years or more ago had a vision that ground along the Delaware which had been hallowed by the presence of Washington and consecrated by the blood of his Continental soldiers, should be preserved as an historic shrine and as the mecca of Americans. The Park Commission, on which Colonel Paxson has served many years, has taken over nearly 500 acres of land including the site of McConeky's Ferry, Taylor's Island, the Thompson-Neely House and a large tract in the Bowman's Hill section.

In 1926 Colonel Paxson brought out his brochure entitled "Washington Crossing," with an historical map. An

DETENTION HOME FOR JUVENILES ESTABLISHED

Institution for County Soon to Be Opened at Doylestown

MISS BRIGHT IN CHARGE

Bucks county is to have a modern juvenile detention home, something that is said to have been needed in Bucks county for a long time, and a project that has been advocated and advanced by service clubs of Doylestown for more than a year after the suggestion had been made by President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

The new Bucks County Juvenile Detention Home will be managed and directed by Miss Gertrude Bright, county probation officer, and will be entirely separate from the Bucks County Prison property. It will be located at 86 Broad street, Doylestown, in a very desirable and well adapted house located directly across from the Court House. The property was formerly occupied by Harry Jamison.

The new home is under the complete management of Miss Bright, who will live there. As juvenile cases come before the county authorities, they will be turned over to Miss Bright. All juveniles arrested for criminal offenses will be placed in the new home instead of the former quarters opposite the Sheriff's residence at the County Prison.

"This new juvenile home is another of the many modern improvements that Bucks county has adopted in carrying out welfare work and the care of the unfortunate," said a prominent county officer this morning.

Miss Bright will have her offices at the new home and they will be open daily until 10 a. m. and any evening by appointment. The new quarters will be opened next Friday morning.

A Drinker of Hashish!
In eleventh-century Persia, a secret order was founded by Hassan ben Sabbah, indulging in the use of the Oriental drug hashish, and, when under its influence, in the practice of secret murder. The Night Call
BOB yawned wearily. His new job left him exhausted at the end of a day. Hauling heavy crates, stooping and straining, was no part of a machinist's training. But it wouldn't be for long, he hoped.
As he started for bed, the doorbell rang. "Wanted on the telephone," said the boy from the corner drug store. Bob groaned and struggled into his overcoat. Who would call him this late at night, he wondered.
The first words over the telephone told him. "Say!" Bob heard his old boss of the machine shop exclaim. "Do you want your job back or not? I'm tired of holding this telephone!"
Bob laughed. "You bet I want the job. And don't worry about holding the telephone. From now on I'll have one at home!"
As an everyday convenience, the TELEPHONE is worth many times its low cost. In emergencies it is priceless.

LAWLER SCORES TWELVE POINTS; GAELS WINNERS

(By T. M. June)

Led by Gene Lawler, stellar guard, who scored twelve points, the Gaels won their third straight victory of the second half of the A. O. H. Basketball League last night, beating the Columbian, 26-19. In the second game of the night the Shamrocks, winners of the first half of the circuit, just managed to win their first game of the second half, nailing the Celtics, 30-27. Both games were played on the A. O. H. floor.

Poor defensive playing caused the downfall of the Columbian in their fray with the league-leading Gaels. With all the players on the forward line the Gaels had little trouble in garnering enough points to take a commanding lead before the Columbian took to the defense and held the scoring down.

"Chuckie" Connors was high scorer for the losers with seven points. "Eddie" Roe's guarding stood out as the best defensive playing of the evening.

The Shamrocks-Celtics struggle was nip and tuck throughout the entire forty minutes of playing and was decided in the last two minutes of playing when with the score evened up at 27 all, "Hun" Rodgers scored a twin-pointer from the right side of the court and then to make victory certain dropped in a one-point shot when he was fouled a few seconds later.

The entire scoring of the Celtics' five was credited to "Hun" Brady. Gene Dugan and "Jimmy" Lake, Lake was high man with fourteen points. George Dougherty and Rodgers led the winners with ten and eleven points, respectively.

YARDLEY TEAMS PLAY; WIN ONE, HAVE ONE LOSS

YARDLEY, Jan. 26.—Coming from a 21-21 deadlock in an extra period contest, Charlie Marks' Yardley high school yearlings defeated the Langhorne basketball veterans and holders of the Bucks County League championship, in a 26-25 score Friday night in I. O. O. F. Hall.

During the first period the victors found no difficulty in breaking through Langhorne's five man defense, and ran wild by an eight point lead.

With the second half before them, Davis, with four doubles and a single, and Balgo, with two long doubles and a foul shot, held the score at a 21-21 tie.

In an extra period Gilmore and Smith came through with a four-point lead. Then followed a period of wild passing and erratic shooting but the defenders were over anxious and Downing and Paul deadlocked the issue at 25-25 on two field goals.

Daugherty, Yardley's little guard broke the tie by a foul counter which won the contest.

Davis, Langhorne's big center, was high scorer, with 6 doubles and two singles, while Gilmore of Yardley, had four doubles and a single and Capt. Smith had seven points to his credit.

Left-Hook Artists

By HARDIN BURNLEY

"THERE'S no telling where and when a left-hook will get you!"

The truth of this old pugilistic adage was never more clearly shown than by the recent sensational come-back of Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, and the continued success of Ray Miller, veteran Chicago lightweight, who can still belt out the boys with that haymaker left.

The left-hook is probably the most effective punch in boxing. Dempsey rose to the top of the heap behind that iron fist left of his, and back in other days Charley White, Chicago lightweight, succeeded in earning several title shots because of his potent left-hook. Charley never seemed to be able to crash through, but Leonard and others who held the title throughout White's hey-day, had many anxious moments when that old left-hook swished through the air.

Petrolle, right now, is riding the crest of the wave. His recent knockout of the youngster, Billy Townsend, at Madison Square Garden, showed that Billy still has what it takes. In the first round he plunked over that left-hook of his and Townsend, a husky, hard-fighting welter, crashed to the mat. He managed to rise and stick around for a while longer, but each time Petrolle hooked over that left thing happened.

There are no frills about this Express from Fargo. No fuss and no flourishes. Just plain socking without the gestures. That left-hook of his seems to have a peculiar delayed action. The recipient of a sock on the whiskers from Billy's left seems to crumple slowly, and then spread out on the canvas all-of-a-sudden like. Yes, this "old" guy in the brown blanket is still poison to the opposition and it won't surprise us if he goes on to a victory over Canzonieri in their proposed title match and then for another shot at the Vancouver Special, Jimmy McLarin.

Let's turn our attention to another left-hook specialist, Ray Miller. Ray has been around a long time. But it seems as long as a left-hook retains its potency its owner will be in demand—at least by promoters and fans. Miller, who has of late been playing the tank circuit, crashed through to a main bout at the Garden a few weeks back, when he was matched to meet the featherweight champ, Bat Battalino. But the N. Y. Commission stepped in and shattered Ray's dream of getting on the big time. The commissioners ruled that Bat would have to fight someone in his class, therefore Miller was sidetracked. But he'll be back, for the Garden management is anxious to have him show that left-hook of his against worth-while opposition.

Yes, the left-hookers have it! Copyright, 1932, By King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Will You Help Those who are Willing to Work?

A number of men, women and girls of various vocations, who are willing to work but cannot find employment, have registered with the Bristol Unemployment Bureau.

Many of these have dependents and are the heads of families who find themselves in stringent circumstances during this time of depression.

A list of all such persons is available to those desiring the services of such a person or persons, regardless of the length of time for which such employment might be offered.

You are asked to make some sacrifice. Do your share by providing work for one or several days at your home or place of business.

If those who are able will give employment to these folks and thus aid them to earn that which they need, they will be accomplishing a two-fold purpose.
